Lands' End Celebrates 50th Birthday of the Backpack with 50 Percent Off Backpacks and Free Shipping

Dedicated Shopping Day with Amazing Offers, Backpack Advice and Chance to Win Birthday Prizes

DODGEVILLE, Wis., Aug. 8, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Fifty years ago, the modern-day backpack was born, and to commemorate this important milestone, Lands' End is celebrating the birthday of the backpack on August 8, 2017. The Lands' End 50th Backpack Birthday will honor the iconic pack with extraordinary offers and advice to help parents and kids discover the best backpacks in time to head back to class.

"Backpacks have greatly evolved in the past 50 years; from a mere zippered nylon bag with straps to carry books in 1967 to today's backpacks offering enhanced features, such as reflective safety trim, water bottle pockets to laptop sleeves, along with personalized style for every student," said Becky Gebhardt, EVP, Chief Marketing Officer, Lands' End. "At Lands' End, we've been building better backpacks for over 30 years and continue to raise the grade each season. This year, we have a pack sized for every student - from preschool to college bound - with styles made with durable rip-resistant fabrics and stronger seams to accommodate everything from electronics and school supplies to sports gear. We understand that a backpack is a critical purchase for back to school, and today's students need durable packs that will last them the entire school year."
